1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group I, species II in the reply filed on December 5, 2008 is acknowledged. Upon allowance of a generic claim, additional species are subject to rejoinder, as are method claims including all limitations of the allowable apparatus claim. Applicant has requested rejoinder of claim 6. The examiner grants such rejoinder.
2. Claims 10-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 10, it is unclear whether the central and side channels are in addition to the tapered channel of claim 1, or if, for example, the tapered channel is the central channel as disclosed in Fig. 8.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claims 1, 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lyon et al (Anal. Chem.. vol. 69, no. 16, pp. 3400-3405, ref. BP in parent).

Lyon teaches a tapered channel for stretching DNA (Figure B, p. 3404, first column, last sentence).

8. Claims 1, 6, 10-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Oefner (5846832).

Oefner teaches a central channel 162 with narrowed end 168. Plural side channels 156, 158 in a pattern that repeats from left to right are provided to provide flow down the main channel (col. 3, lines 25-26) to provide stretching (extension) of the DNA molecules (col. 3, lines 16-18, col. 4, line 32). The main channel may have an inner diameter of, e.g., 0.030" (col. 8, line 52), whereas the side channels can have a diameter of 0.01" to 0.05" (col. 3, lines 29-30), which range satisfies or encompasses the limitations of claims 12-13. While the preferred embodiment has an abrupt change from wide diameter to narrow diameter, a tapered channel is described in the alternative to the preferred abrupt change (col. 2, lines 66-67).

Oefner fails to explicitly teach an embodiment with a tapered central channel.

It would have been obvious to make the central channel of Oefner as a tapered channel instead of having an abrupt diameter change in order to construct the channel in the less preferred embodiment.

9. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thornton, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

10. Claim 1 is rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-13 of U.S. Patent No. 6696022.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the limitations of instant claim 1 are encompassed by the claims, e.g., the limitations of claims 1 and 6.
